THE PURPLE ROSE THEATRE COMPANY

George Noonan is having a mid-life crisis. The father of five girls and a flight attendant for a small Midwestern airline, George is scheduled to have a vasectomy. As he works up the courage to go through with the procedure, George becomes reflective on his struggles with his career, living up to his father's expectations, and the nature of being a man in the modern world.

The 20th anniversary production of this uproarious comedy explores the relationship between fathers and sons, the Detroit Tigers, and what it really means to be a man.
