Eleanor, a biology major, brings her boyfriend Rob home to meet her two moms. While there, she lets them know that she has hired a private investigator to help her find her biological father. She says, as a scientist, she is curious about her genetics. But it's evident she might also just want to meet her dad. Eleanor is sent on a journey to an unexpected and explosive answer to the question "Where do I come from?"

"Never Not Once" explores a host of family dynamics and raises questions about issues that remain a secret within families. The Purple Rose Theatre and SafeHouse Center understand that sexual assault and domestic violence happen here in our own community. Please join us for a special post performance panel discussion following the Friday, March 8th show (International Women's Day) to promote healthy conversations about abuse and to bring awareness to community members about all the programs and services that are available to survivors in Washtenaw County – for both women and men. We believe that awareness and conversation can help us bring an end to the systems and attitudes that allow abuse to continue.
